

Expert support for any cancer diagnosis

Joseph's* doctor recommended surgery after he was diagnosed with esophageal cancer. Before he felt comfortable moving forward with surgery, Joseph wanted to get more information and a second opinion.

After receiving information about his Alight benefits in the mail, he reached out to a Medical Ally. They provided information on his diagnosis and treatment options, and a credentialing report on his current medical and radiation oncologists. Joseph also received a list of top surgical oncologists in his area where he could get a second opinion as well as a list of questions to ask during the visit.

After working with his Medical Ally, Joseph felt more informed about his diagnosis and treatment options and decided to move forward with the surgery. The resources and support provided by his Medical Ally enabled Joseph to take steps to improve his overall quality of life and better prepare for surgery, recovery and beyond.

When you get a cancer diagnosis, it is stressful. Our motto was “we don’t know.” Our Medical Ally answered all our questions, walked us through, and provided feedback on surgeons. It was good to get feedback from someone we trusted.
